ABSTRACT

Personality value has an impact on the quality of life for everyone from a self-appearance, behavioral, thought, feeling, social and spiritual personality. This study was conducted to identify the level of the practice and understanding of Islamic values among students at Malaysian Aviation Training Academy (MATA), identifying the differences of understanding and practicing Islamic values based on gender demographics. The respondent of the study consists of a total of 50 students who took the course of the Land handling license "Ground Handling" Malaysian Aviation Training Academy. Data obtained from questionnaires are analyzed using Statistical Packages for Social Science programmed (SPSS) software version 22. 0 and the findings of the study are described by using descriptive statistical methods and inferential to analyze the hypothesis of the study. Data analysis involves min and test-T. The value of the Alpha Cronbach this study was 0.97 for the understanding and 0.923 for the practice. The Finding of the study showed the level of practicing and understanding of Islamic values among students gaining high scores. But there is still a small gap that is careless in the practice of Islamic values. The study finds, that there is no difference in the level of understanding and practice based on gender. As a result of the findings of this study, the college takes appropriate action to ensure that the level of understanding and the practice of students on Islamic values will continue to be in line with the objective and direction of the Ministry of Education in its noble personality. In conclusion, the findings of the study showed that the level of practice and understanding of Islamic value among students in college was good.
